

113 年度英語簡報比賽主持人徵選— 講稿

Good evening! Welcome to 2024 TMU English Presentation Contest! On behalf of the Language Center, we appreciate your support and attendance for this important event. I am your host, {NAME}. And I'm here with my partner, Cindy.

Please take your seat as we will begin our contest soon. We would also like to remind you to please turn off or silence your mobile phones during the contest.

Before we get started, let me introduce to all of you the judges for today's competition. The first judge is professor Tseng from Taipei Medical University. Our next judge is professor Fang from Taipei Medical University. We are very grateful to have such experienced judges for our competition today, and we're sure that their feedback will be invaluable to all the participants. Please join me in giving them a big hand.

Before the competition begins, I would like to give a brief summary of today's event. There will be 12 contestants in total giving their presentation tonight. Each contestant has 5 minutes to give the presentation. When it comes to the 4th minute, our staff will raise a reminder sign, and a stop sign in the 5th minute, which means the contestants should wrap up their speech.

For the first section, contestant number 1 to number 6 will be delivering their speeches, and after that we will have a short break. The second section is for contestant number 7 to 12, and after that we will have another ten-minute break. When we come back from the second break, the judges will announce the results of today's competition.
